Accomplishments

Alex has authored articles on depreciation, advised on the American Institute of Certified Public Accounting (AICPA) annual audit risk guide for the real estate industry and participates on various industry panels. Alex is a member of NAIOP, and committee member on the March of Dimes annual real estate event.

Alex is the Partner-in-Charge of Real Estate and Construction Services Group, specializing in all areas of accounting, audit and tax for family owned real estate businesses. In addition, Alex represents various institutional investors. Alex's passion is advising clients on business issues and working through tax saving opportunities.

Under his leadership, the real estate practice has implemented important value added services. These services include cost segregation studies, outsourced CFO and software implementation services specifically for the real estate business, real estate valuation, financial modeling, specialty tax credits, and consultation on deferred exchanges. Focusing on the world of real estate has allowed Alex and his team bring relevant and up to date knowledge to clients. Prior to joining Wiss & Company, Alex worked at Ernst & Young (An International Accounting Firm) and Pulte Homes.

Alex currently serves as a member of Wiss' Executive Committee.
